

Dr. Melissa Redmond, PhD, MSW
Assistant Professor – School of Social Work, Carleton University

Dr. Redmond is an Assistant Professor at the School of Social Work, Carleton University. She has worked as practitioner, researcher and advocate in academic, community and organizational settings. Her interests include children's rights and child protection, social service program access among marginalized populations, poverty reduction strategies and gender concerns. Her research has appeared in Journal of Teaching in Social Work, Race and Social Problems, and Canadian Social Work Review, among other publications.

Raised in Montreal, Dr. Redmond is fluent in both French and English. She holds undergraduate degrees from Concordia and McGill Universities, a Masters of Social Work from the Faculty of Law and School of Social Work at McGill and a Ph.D. from the Factor-Inwentash Faculty of Social Work, University of Toronto.

Canadian Institute of Child Health, 2016